

Social and Personal

Phone 1268 or 1269 Between 8 A. M. and 4 P. M.

Social Calendar

Thursday, July 21
Chapter No. 323 Order of the Eastern Star will meet at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Masonic Hall. All members are urged to be present.

The First Christian church choir rehearsal will be held at 7:45 p.m. Thursday.

Linda Alice Jones
Plan Nuptials
in California

Mrs. Burgher William Jones of 119 South Dillon street, Los Angeles announces the engagement and forthcoming marriage of her daughter, Linda, to Mr. and Mrs. Moore, also of Los Angeles.

The wedding will be an event of August 27 in Los Angeles. The bride-elect is a graduate of Hope High School, the attendant, Henderson State Teachers college in Arkadelphia one year before entering U. C. L. A. in Los Angeles. Miss Jones is the granddaughter of Mrs. E. S. Jones of this city.

Mr. Moore graduated from the University of Southern California where he was a member of the Phi Beta Kappa fraternity. He will teach in the City High school of Los Angeles this fall.

W. S. C. S. Members Meet in Spencer Home

The study class of the W. S. C. S. of the First Methodist church met for the first lesson of the series in the spacious home of Mrs. Lloyd Spencer at four o'clock Monday afternoon. Co-hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Delton Housh, Mrs. Mabel Ehrhridge, Mrs. Earl Housh, Mrs. H. O. Kyler, Mrs. Steve Carrigan, Jr., leader of the class, called the meeting to order and discussed the study for the year. Mrs. Dave Thompson led in the opening prayer.

Mrs. John Arnold read the inspiring scripture taken from the fourth chapter of Mark, verses 23-29. The members then sang "Jesus Is All the World To Me." Miss Clarice Cannon brought a wonderful message by reviewing the six steps in the study of the book "The Newness of Life." A review was enjoyed by 23 members.

The next study will be held in the home of Mrs. L. W. Young at 4 p.m. Monday. During the social hour, the hostess served iced drinks.

Coming and Going

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Reynolds of New Iberia, La., Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Horn of Springfield, Mo., and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Malone of Chillicothe, Mo., spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Leveque and Mrs. F. C. Malone.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ross, Miss Violet Ross and Mrs. J. A. Davis left Friday night for a three week vacation visit in California. The Ross will visit their daughter and sister, Mrs. William Leveque in North Hollywood and Mrs. Davis will visit her daughter, Mrs. George Stromstrom in San Bernardino, Cal. and her mother Mrs. George Hinton in Phoenix, Ariz.

Mr. and Mrs. Glendon Moses and son, Glendon Jr., of Bay Town, Tex. are visiting relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Haneagan are spending this week in New Orleans.

Mrs. Jud Martindale and daughter, Betsy Love of New Orleans are guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thompson Evans, Jr.

Personal Mention

Mrs. E. R. Brown, Principal of Brookwood school, completed the requirements for her Master of Arts degree at East Texas State Teachers College in Commerce last week. She will go back to Commerce in August to receive her diploma. Mr. Brown completed his master of Science degree at the University of Arkansas during the summer of 1948 and was awarded his diploma in the last January exercises. Mr. and Mrs. Brown received their Bachelor of Arts degree from Henderson State Teachers College in 1945.

Capt. and Mrs. Lyle Moore and Mrs. Lyle, Jr. arrived Friday for a month visit with relatives here. They will go to Shreveport Tuesday for a visit with Mrs. Moore's brother, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Erwin.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Cobb and daughter, Karen, and Mr. and Mrs. Olen Purcell left Tuesday for a vacation visit in Hot Springs.

Hospital Notes

Julia Chester
Admitted: Alonzo Durham, Rt. 4, Hope; Mrs. T. A. Cathright, Saratoga; Mrs. Delmar Crunk, Lewisville.
Discharged: Mrs. Earl Cato, Rt. 1, Hope; Mrs. Lile Arnold and son, Charles William, Deann.

Josephine
Admitted: Miss Sandra See King, Hope; Mrs. Vernon Osborne, Hope.
Discharged: Mrs. Granville Speck, Hope; Mrs. J. D. Samuels and little son, Hope; Mrs. Sandra Sue King, Hope; Mr. J. W. Smith, Hope; Mrs. J. L. Rogers and little daughter, Buckner.

Congressman Denies Using Union Funds

Kansas City, July 18 — (AP) — A charge that Rep. Leonard Irving, Democrat, used union funds to finance his campaign for re-election to the House of Representatives was promptly denied from the Democratic congressman.

Irving is representative from President Truman's home congressional district. The Missouri congressman and two other labor union officials were accused in a petition filed Saturday on unauthorized use of funds belonging to the Hod Carpenters Building and Common Laborers' Union, Local No. 661 (AFL) Local No. 661.

Irving, the union's president and business agent, said in Washington that every expenditure made by him and the other union officials had been authorized. A petition for an accounting was filed in Circuit court here by 86 members of the union, Roy E. Livingston, the union's treasurer and financial secretary, and Alvin Butcher, corresponding and recording secretary, also were named defendants. The union has 1,300 members.

Clubs

Liberty Hill
Basket weaving was the demonstration given by Lorraine Blackwood, home demonstration agent, who with the Liberty Hill club met at the home of Mrs. S. C. Hucker on Tuesday afternoon, July 12. Instructions were given on how to weave three different types of baskets one to be used for a tray, another for a sewing basket and one for a base container. Eleven members were present and answered the roll call by telling what each planned to exhibit at the fair.

Names for the secret balls were drawn at this meeting. It was decided that the satin comforter that the club won at the Experiment Station on Victory Day, July 1, would be sold to any individual willing to buy it. The club exhibit for the fair was discussed and decided upon. During the recreation period Mrs. I. S. Williams had charge and directed the games with prizes going to Mrs. Irvin Betts and Mrs. L. A. Day.

While refreshments were being served Mrs. L. A. Williams received the police of cake containing the dime, therefore she will bring cake to the next meeting containing a hidden dime. The club adjourned and will meet again on August 9 at 7 p.m. for a picnic supper at the home of Mrs. Grace Hucker.

When the blamed thing won't mow...

Look up "LAWN MOWER REPAIRING" in the Yellow Pages

The YELLOW PAGES tell who buys, sells, rents, repairs.

WIDMARK - BARRYMORE

LAST DAY

RAY NOBLE and ORCH

RAY NOBLE and ORCH

RAY NOBLE and ORCH

RAY NOBLE and ORCH

RAY NOBLE and ORCH

RAY NOBLE and ORCH

RAY NOBLE and ORCH

RAY NOBLE and ORCH

RAY NOBLE and ORCH

RAY NOBLE and ORCH

RAY NOBLE and ORCH

RAY NOBLE and ORCH

RAY NOBLE and ORCH

RAY NOBLE and ORCH

RAY NOBLE and ORCH

RAY NOBLE and ORCH

RAY NOBLE and ORCH

Trainman Is Killed at Cape Girardeau

Cape Girardeau, Md., July 18 — (AP) — Just as he'd done hundreds of times before, R. E. Everson, a Cotton Belt railroad brakeman, hopped a freight train yesterday up near the front.

But that time something went wrong, and there he was under the train.

"I didn't move a muscle until I realized how deeply the metal rods were cutting into my back," he said. "Then I moved a little toward one track and they stopped hitting me."

Cemetery Working

An all-day cemetery working is planned at New Hope church, on Hope-Palmers road Friday, July 22. All interested persons are urged to come and bring a lunch.

REFUGE

By Mildred Cram and Harwood White

The Story: When Mrs. Malone took a job as a cook for the wealthy, arrogant, eccentric Mrs. Everson who lives in a gigantic trailer pulled by a truck, she did not realize the woman was fleeing from the Atom Bomb.

Mrs. Malone has just learned that Mrs. Everson has become convinced that an atomic war is impending.

It might come any moment and when it comes only a few survivors will remain on earth.

Although Mrs. Malone believes the idea fantastic, Rudy the chauffeur, who may once have been a movie star, says that she contained many big scientists and politicians and that she has made her plans carefully — as if one talked out of turn. She is, in fact, a female Nazi, says Rudy. Also in the party, traveling in two trailers, are the Marchese Dellacasa, who is an exiled nobleman who is teaching Mrs. Everson formal manners and Victor, a Filipino who went to Columbia. After Rudy finishes telling about the caravan and the chromium salt, Mrs. Malone says she's not believing a single word.

That night Mrs. Malone could not sleep. Her berth was comfortable and the radio spoke reassuringly and commonplaces. The old patterns and catenae seemed to be in order. But she was restless and uneasy.

At first she tried to reason herself into normal drowsiness. But all the bogabogals of the past years howled through her thoughts. The words: "One world, or none." The terrifying cartoon of the same, calm voices over the air speaking of the issue which would determine man's survival.

The Great Change of that day when the first Bomb fell, when the illusion of safety perished, together with thousands of Japanese civilians. The shock of realization that maybe our turn will be next, and the sense of Power, but an attention to using it.

Yet there the problem was: kill or be killed. The stench of hell was in the uranium piles.

Mrs. Malone sat straight up in bed. She thought: "I'm going nuts. I've got to get out of here and go back to the city and people who have some sense. That woman!"

She threw back the bed cover, slipped out of bed and began to dress. The electric alarm suddenly too small, like a prison. Mrs. Malone pinned her heavy braided hair into place, packed the few things she had out, jammed her hat down on her head and snatched up her coat.

The far door of the kitchen stood open and the entryway beyond was illuminated by a tube of blue light. Mrs. Malone could hear voices in the garden and peering at her wrist watch in the blue gloom

Music Camp to Open Sunday at Monticello

Monticello, July 19 — (AP) — The three-week session of the Dixie music camp will open Sunday at Monticello, Ark. The camp is expected to draw more than 375 band instructors from seven states: Tennessee, Alabama, Arkansas, Virginia, Louisiana, Mississippi and Texas. The meeting is sponsored by the Dixie Music Camp association.

Trainman Is Killed at Cape Girardeau

Cape Girardeau, Md., July 18 — (AP) — Just as he'd done hundreds of times before, R. E. Everson, a Cotton Belt railroad brakeman, hopped a freight train yesterday up near the front.

But that time something went wrong, and there he was under the train.

"I didn't move a muscle until I realized how deeply the metal rods were cutting into my back," he said. "Then I moved a little toward one track and they stopped hitting me."

Someone saw him fall and passed the word, but to the man under the rods "it seemed like a week" before the train stopped.

REFUGE

By Mildred Cram and Harwood White

The Story: When Mrs. Malone took a job as a cook for the wealthy, arrogant, eccentric Mrs. Everson who lives in a gigantic trailer pulled by a truck, she did not realize the woman was fleeing from the Atom Bomb.

Mrs. Malone has just learned that Mrs. Everson has become convinced that an atomic war is impending.

It might come any moment and when it comes only a few survivors will remain on earth.

Although Mrs. Malone believes the idea fantastic, Rudy the chauffeur, who may once have been a movie star, says that she contained many big scientists and politicians and that she has made her plans carefully — as if one talked out of turn. She is, in fact, a female Nazi, says Rudy. Also in the party, traveling in two trailers, are the Marchese Dellacasa, who is an exiled nobleman who is teaching Mrs. Everson formal manners and Victor, a Filipino who went to Columbia. After Rudy finishes telling about the caravan and the chromium salt, Mrs. Malone says she's not believing a single word.

That night Mrs. Malone could not sleep. Her berth was comfortable and the radio spoke reassuringly and commonplaces. The old patterns and catenae seemed to be in order. But she was restless and uneasy.

At first she tried to reason herself into normal drowsiness. But all the bogabogals of the past years howled through her thoughts. The words: "One world, or none." The terrifying cartoon of the same, calm voices over the air speaking of the issue which would determine man's survival.

The Great Change of that day when the first Bomb fell, when the illusion of safety perished, together with thousands of Japanese civilians. The shock of realization that maybe our turn will be next, and the sense of Power, but an attention to using it.

Yet there the problem was: kill or be killed. The stench of hell was in the uranium piles.

Mrs. Malone sat straight up in bed. She thought: "I'm going nuts. I've got to get out of here and go back to the city and people who have some sense. That woman!"

She threw back the bed cover, slipped out of bed and began to dress. The electric alarm suddenly too small, like a prison. Mrs. Malone pinned her heavy braided hair into place, packed the few things she had out, jammed her hat down on her head and snatched up her coat.

The far door of the kitchen stood open and the entryway beyond was illuminated by a tube of blue light. Mrs. Malone could hear voices in the garden and peering at her wrist watch in the blue gloom

DOROTHY DIX Fool's Paradise

Dear Dorothy Dix: At last I have found my ideal. The man I love. He doesn't drink, smoke, or gamble. He hasn't any bad habits. I love him and I can tell by his actions that he loves me, but he never tells me so. He never whispers in my ear that he loves me. He doesn't have confidence in me. And I want to be told that I am loved. I want him to call me "dear" just once a week I'd be happy, and if he would tell me that he loves me once every six months I would be blissful. Can you say a few words to help me?

Answer: I feel like pouring a little cold water on your bubbly optimism and cooling it down a bit. For how do you know that he loves you if he has never told you so? What makes you think that he wants to marry you if he has not popped the question?

When women tell me that they can read in a man's eyes how much he loves them or tell by a man's actions that he wants to marry them, I could howl with anguish over the fatal faculty women have for deceiving themselves. For a man's eyes are nothing but a mirror in which he sees reflected his own desires and the interpretation a woman puts upon a man's acts are nobody's business but her own. Why, I have even heard women boast "their husbands being jealous of them" and take it as a compliment instead of an insult when they accuse them of the vilest crimes, and there is a traditional story of a woman who thought her husband had ceased to love her because he quit beating her.

So, my dear Jean, if the young man you are in love with never mentions the state of his affections to you and if he doesn't come out flat-footed and ask you to be his wife, you may be perfectly sure that he is not in love with you and that he has no intention whatsoever of marrying you. Face that fact and get out of your fool's paradise of self-delusion.

And anyway, I think a man who think I am too old to be a traveling companion? Can you suggest something other than contentment, which is impossible in my situation?

Answer: I am afraid not. Most of us have to see our visions of what we would like fade in the thin air and content ourselves with our lots. It is a tragedy for you and for the unknown man that you will never meet. There are so many men who need good wives and so many women who could make them so happy, and there is no way to bring them together. Certainly you are not too old to be a traveling companion, but I am afraid there would be very little chance of getting such a job.

DOROTHY DIX (Released by the Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Dear Miss Dix: I am a college woman, engaged to marry a young man who is a graduate of the same college that I am. He had to work his way through school. Was a country boy and lacks knowledge of many of the niceties of life. His grammar is not perfect and I am embarrassed at times by his lack of knowledge of conventions. He is a splendid man in every way, devoted to me and I am much in love with him, but I wonder after I am married to him if the fact that we have been reared on different planes will make any difference to me.

Answer: Not unless you put too much stress on the conventions or unless you undertake to live your husband up to your level.

A man's morals, his disposition, his kindness of heart and his energy are a lot more important than his pronunciation or his grammar or the way he holds his fork. But unless you can feel that way about them and laugh at his provincialism instead of letting it get on your nerves, don't marry him. And don't marry any man with the notion back in your head that as soon as you get him you are going to make him over to suit your tastes. There is nothing on earth that a man resents as much as he does criticism from his wife, and no other human being from whom he will not take it with a better grace.

And the reason for this is obvious. Every man wants to be a hero to his wife. He wants to look up to him and admire him, and when she begins pointing out his defects to him it humiliates him so that he can't stand it. Her air of superiority galls him beyond endurance and he flies from her to some woman who flatters him and tells him he is an oracle.

Take your man "as is" or leave him in peace.

DOROTHY DIX

Dear Miss Dix: I am an old maid, 59, tired of teaching and living alone. I am sure there is some one somewhere that I could make happy, but I have no opportunity to meet people. Do you think I am too old to be a traveling companion? Can you suggest something other than contentment, which is impossible in my situation?

Answer: I am afraid not. Most of us have to see our visions of what we would like fade in the thin air and content ourselves with our lots. It is a tragedy for you and for the unknown man that you will never meet. There are so many men who need good wives and so many women who could make them so happy, and there is no way to bring them together. Certainly you are not too old to be a traveling companion, but I am afraid there would be very little chance of getting such a job.

DOROTHY DIX (Released by the Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Dear Miss Dix: I am a college woman, engaged to marry a young man who is a graduate of the same college that I am. He had to work his way through school. Was a country boy and lacks knowledge of many of the niceties of life. His grammar is not perfect and I am embarrassed at times by his lack of knowledge of conventions. He is a splendid man in every way, devoted to me and I am much in love with him, but I wonder after I am married to him if the fact that we have been reared on different planes will make any difference to me.

Answer: Not unless you put too much stress on the conventions or unless you undertake to live your husband up to your level.

A man's morals, his disposition, his kindness of heart and his energy are a lot more important than his pronunciation or his grammar or the way he holds his fork. But unless you can feel that way about them and laugh at his provincialism instead of letting it get on your nerves, don't marry him. And don't marry any man with the notion back in your head that as soon as you get him you are going to make him over to suit your tastes. There is nothing on earth that a man resents as much as he does criticism from his wife, and no other human being from whom he will not take it with a better grace.

And the reason for this is obvious. Every man wants to be a hero to his wife. He wants to look up to him and admire him, and when she begins pointing out his defects to him it humiliates him so that he can't stand it. Her air of superiority galls him beyond endurance and he flies from her to some woman who flatters him and tells him he is an oracle.

Take your man "as is" or leave him in peace.

DOROTHY DIX

Dear Miss Dix: I am an old maid, 59, tired of teaching and living alone. I am sure there is some one somewhere that I could make happy, but I have no opportunity to meet people. Do you think I am too old to be a traveling companion? Can you suggest something other than contentment, which is impossible in my situation?

Answer: I am afraid not. Most of us have to see our visions of what we would like fade in the thin air and content ourselves with our lots. It is a tragedy for you and for the unknown man that you will never meet. There are so many men who need good wives and so many women who could make them so happy, and there is no way to bring them together. Certainly you are not too old to be a traveling companion, but I am afraid there would be very little chance of getting such a job.

DOROTHY DIX (Released by the Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Dear Miss Dix: I am a college woman, engaged to marry a young man who is a graduate of the same college that I am. He had to work his way through school. Was a country boy and lacks knowledge of many of the niceties of life. His grammar is not perfect and I am embarrassed at times by his lack of knowledge of conventions. He is a splendid man in every way, devoted to me and I am much in love with him, but I wonder after I am married to him if the fact that we have been reared on different planes will make any difference to me.

Answer: Not unless you put too much stress on the conventions or unless you undertake to live your husband up to your level.

A man's morals, his disposition, his kindness of heart and his energy are a lot more important than his pronunciation or his grammar or the way he holds his fork. But unless you can feel that way about them and laugh at his provincialism instead of letting it get on your nerves, don't marry him. And don't marry any man with the notion back in your head that as soon as you get him you are going to make him over to suit your tastes. There is nothing on earth that a man resents as much as he does criticism from his wife, and no other human being from whom he will not take it with a better grace.

And the reason for this is obvious. Every man wants to be a hero to his wife. He wants to look up to him and admire him, and when she begins pointing out his defects to him it humiliates him so that he can't stand it. Her air of superiority galls him beyond endurance and he flies from her to some woman who flatters him and tells him he is an oracle.

Take your man "as is" or leave him in peace.

DOROTHY DIX

Dear Miss Dix: I am an old maid, 59, tired of teaching and living alone. I am sure there is some one somewhere that I could make happy, but I have no opportunity to meet people. Do you think I am too old to be a traveling companion? Can you suggest something other than contentment, which is impossible in my situation?

Answer: I am afraid not. Most of us have to see our visions of what we would like fade in the thin air and content ourselves with our lots. It is a tragedy for you and for the unknown man that you will never meet. There are so many men who need good wives and so many women who could make them so happy, and there is no way to bring them together. Certainly you are not too old to be a traveling companion, but I am afraid there would be very little chance of getting such a job.

DOROTHY DIX (Released by the Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Dear Miss Dix: I am a college woman, engaged to marry a young man who is a graduate of the same college that I am. He had to work his way through school. Was a country boy and lacks knowledge of many of the niceties of life. His grammar is not perfect and I am embarrassed at times by his lack of knowledge of conventions. He is a splendid man in every way, devoted to me and I am much in love with him, but I wonder after I am married to him if the fact that we have been reared on different planes will make any difference to me.

Answer: Not unless you put too much stress on the conventions or unless you undertake to live your husband up to your level.

A man's morals, his disposition, his kindness of heart and his energy are a lot more important than his pronunciation or his grammar or the way he holds his fork. But unless you can feel that way about them and laugh at his provincialism instead of letting it get on your nerves, don't marry him. And don't marry any man with the notion back in your head that as soon as you get him you are going to make him over to suit your tastes. There is nothing on earth that a man resents as much as he does criticism from his wife, and no other human being from whom he will not take it with a better grace.

And the reason for this is obvious. Every man wants to be a hero to his wife. He wants to look up to him and admire him, and when she begins pointing out his defects to him it humiliates him so that he can't stand it. Her air of superiority galls him beyond endurance and he flies from her to some woman who flatters him and tells him he is an oracle.

Take your man "as is" or leave him in peace.

DOROTHY DIX

Dear Miss Dix: I am an old maid, 59, tired of teaching and living alone. I am sure there is some one somewhere that I could make happy, but I have no opportunity to meet people. Do you think I am too old to be a traveling companion? Can you suggest something other than contentment, which is impossible in my situation?

Answer: I am afraid not. Most of us have to see our visions of what we would like fade in the thin air and content ourselves with our lots. It is a tragedy for you and for the unknown man that you will never meet. There are so many men who need good wives and so many women who could make them so happy, and there is no way to bring them together. Certainly you are not too old to be a traveling companion, but I am afraid there would be very little chance of getting such a job.

DOROTHY DIX (Released by the Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Dear Miss Dix: I am a college woman, engaged to marry a young man who is a graduate of the same college that I am. He had to work his way through school. Was a country boy and lacks knowledge of many of the niceties of life. His grammar is not perfect and I am embarrassed at times by his lack of knowledge of conventions. He is a splendid man in every way, devoted to me and I am much in love with him, but I wonder after I am married to him if the fact that we have been reared on different planes will make any difference to me.

Answer: Not unless you put too much stress on the conventions or unless you undertake to live your husband up to your level.

A man's morals, his disposition, his kindness of heart and his energy are a lot more important than his pronunciation or his grammar or the way he holds his fork. But unless you can feel that way about them and laugh at his provincialism instead of letting it get on your nerves, don't marry him. And don't marry any man with the notion back in your head that as soon as you get him you are going to make him over to suit your tastes. There is nothing on earth that a man resents as much as he does criticism from his wife, and no other human being from whom he will not take it with a better grace.

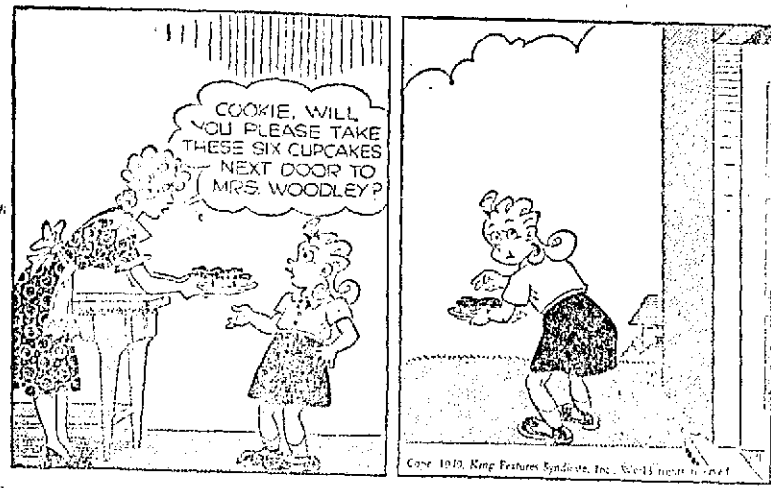

And the reason for this is obvious. Every man wants to be a hero to his wife. He wants to look up to him and admire him, and when she begins pointing out his defects to him it humiliates him so that he can't stand it. Her air of superiority galls him beyond endurance and he flies from her to some woman who flatters him and tells him he is an oracle.

Take your man "as is" or leave him in peace.

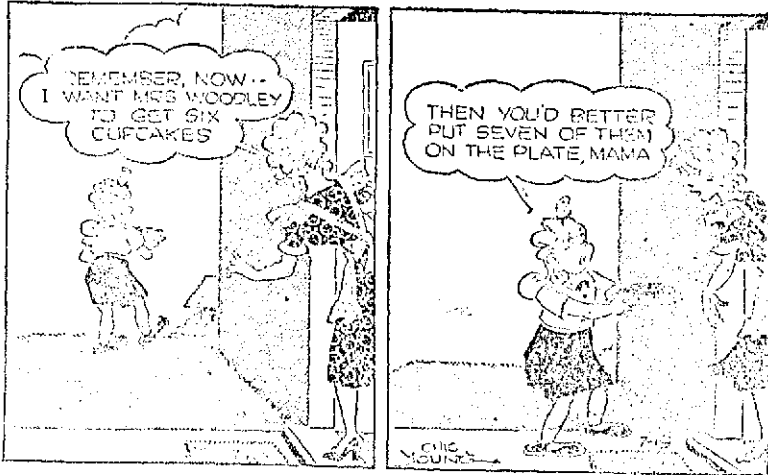

DOROTHY DIX

Dear Miss Dix: I am an old maid, 59, tired of teaching and living alone. I am sure there is some one somewhere that I could make happy, but I have no

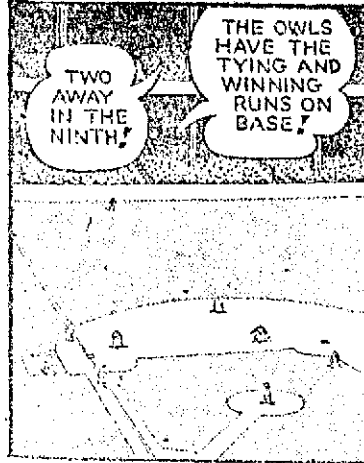

BLONDIE

By Chick Young

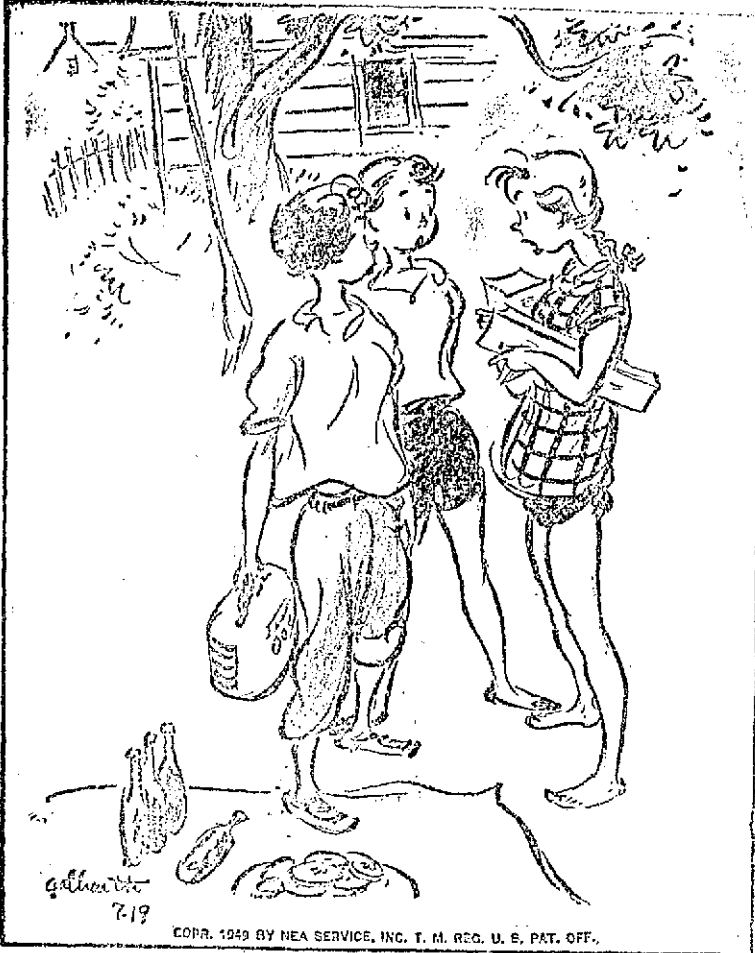

OSARK IKE

By Ray Gatto

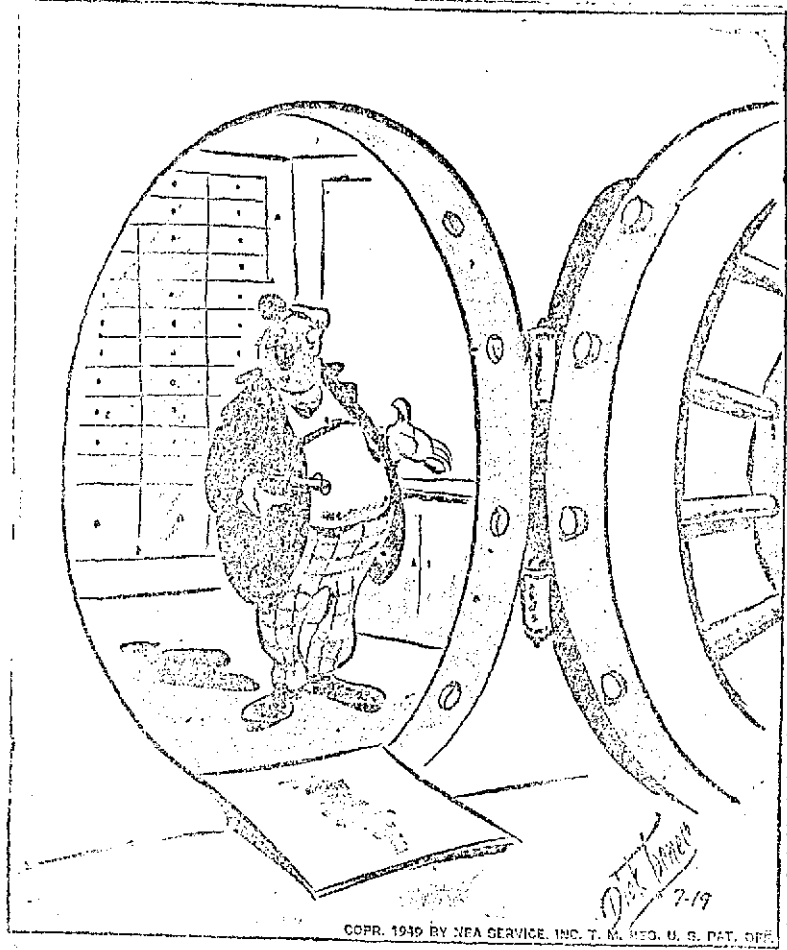

SIDE GLANCES

By Gelbreith

CARNIVAL

By Dick Turner

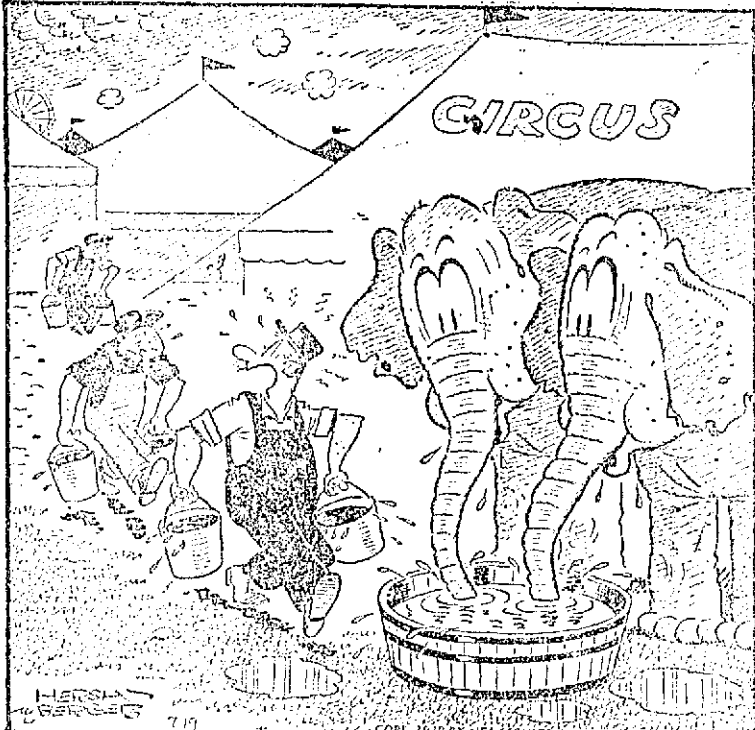

VIC FLINT

By Michael O'Malley & Ralph Lane

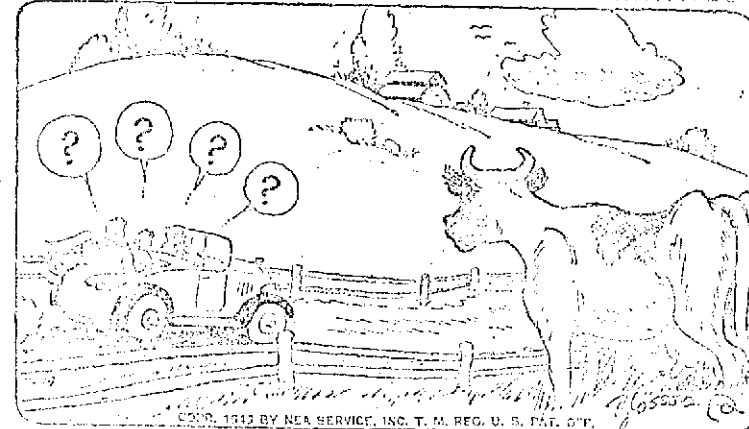

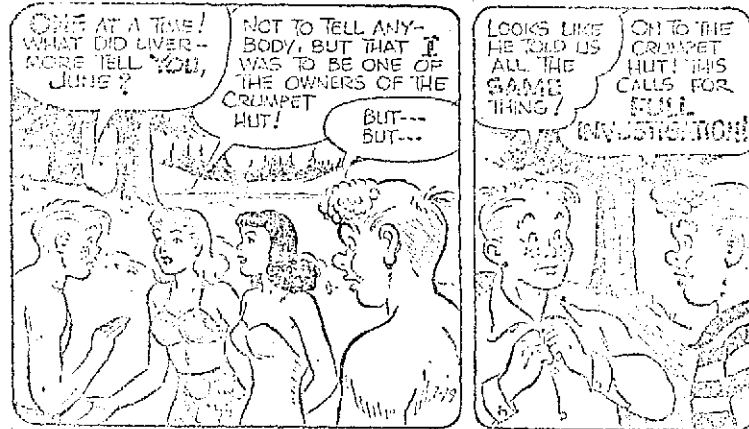

FUNNY BUSINESS

By Hershberger

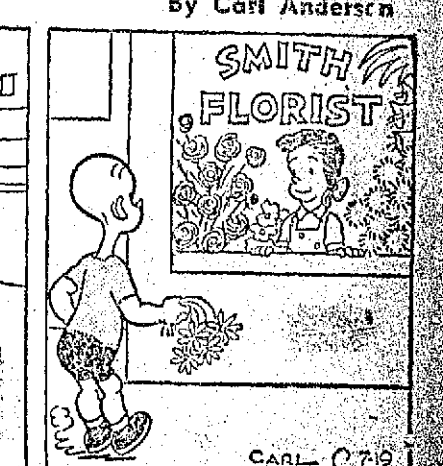

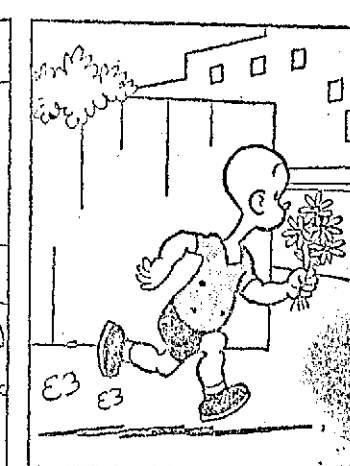

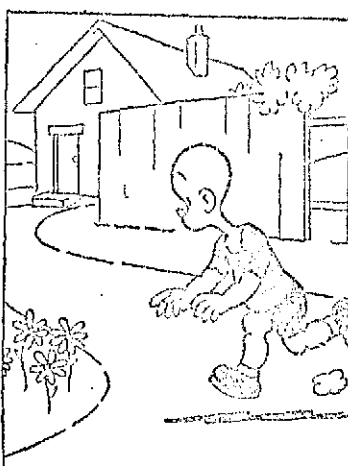

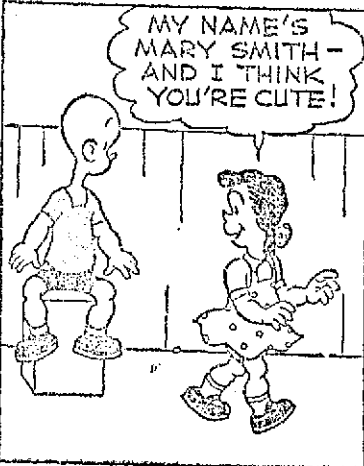

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

By Blosser

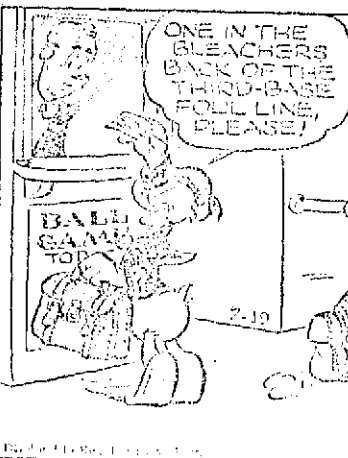

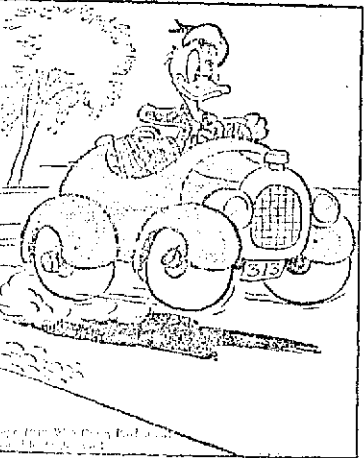

HENRY

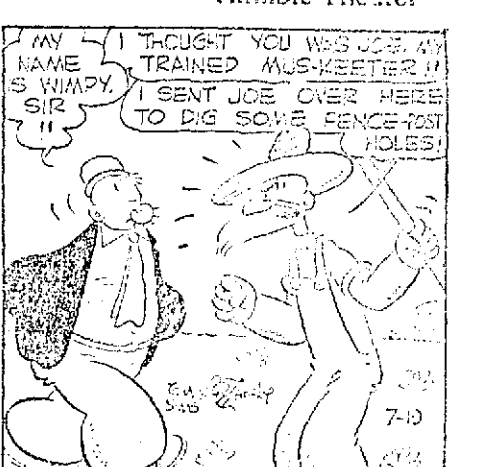

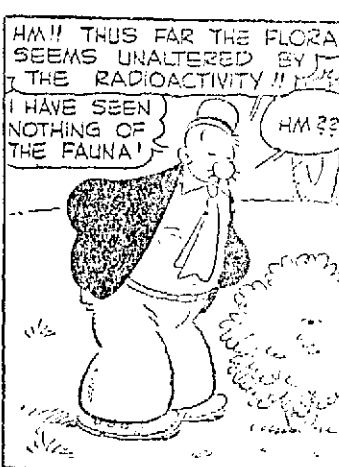

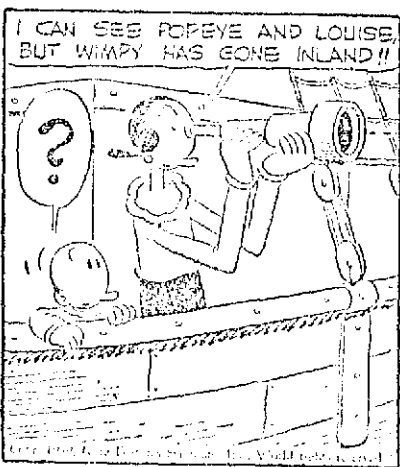

By Carl Anderson

OSWALD DUCK

By Walt Disney

POPEYE

Thimble Theatre

OUT OUR WAY

By J. R. Williams

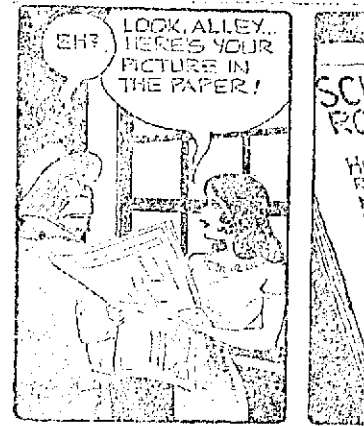

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

With Major Apple

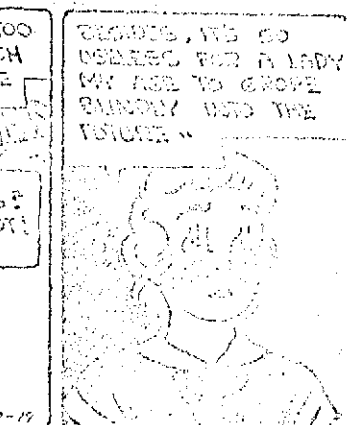

ALLEY OOP

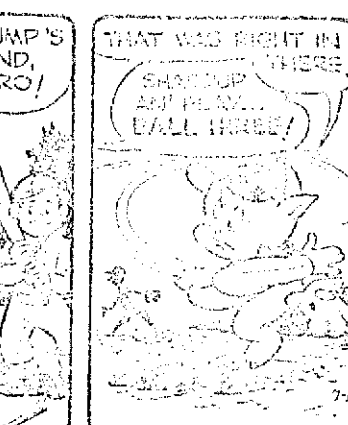

By V. T. Hamlin

BOOTS

By Edgar Martin

BUGS BUNNY

By Warner Bros. Cartoons, Inc.

It Isn't the Same Cold War Anymore—Most of the Chill Has Shifted to Far East

By JAMES D. WHITE
AP Foreign News Analyst
For DeWitt MacKenzie

It isn't the same cold war any more. The Paris peace conference, the cold war was treated by both sides largely as a European deadlock. The Berlin blockade and air-lift held the spotlight.

Now the conflict in Europe is changing, and a vast new front is opening up in Asia. In Europe, postwar production is filling war-starved markets. Competition is making the economic phase of the European struggle more important. Also, communism has stepped up its long crusade against religious organizations. The Catholic church has answered with a mighty weapon—major excommunication. In Communist dominated countries with large Catholic populations, the conflict between church and state has been brought to a head.

There are many links with Europe in this country which make it fairly easy for the American people to grasp the meaning of what goes on in Europe. Neither the average American nor the average European is as well prepared to understand what is happening in East Asia. This is where communism has opened up a whole big new front.

This front shows signs of being coordinated, like the drive against religious groups in Europe.

But in Asia it takes another form. It is the vast unrest prevailing among more than half the people of the world, and its strategy is to marry their various nationalistic movements.

Nationalism is a tide in Asia as her people seek a better life. Asia wants to get away from communism. The Communist tactic is to change evolution away from colonialism into revolution. It brands every Western attempt to discourage violence as just more imperialism—American imperialism.

In this situation there are some things. They originate in the way subtly but powerfully dangerous things. They originate in the way the east thinks of the west—and of alien Western things like democracy and communism.

Some Asians were civilized when Europeans were still living in caves, and as "colored" peoples they have a hardy complex about past and present color lines drawn in the West.

This, warmed by the oriental's proud resentment over his colonial experience, produces a strong prejudice that saturates the orient.

There is little faith in peace. World War III seems inevitable to most Asians. Judging from their own feudal background and what Russo-American statesmanship they have seen first hand, they do not believe the two young giants of the world today are capable of living in peace with each other.

Orientalism look at places like Korea. There they see a homogeneous people who, when Russo-American rivalry has split in two since V-J day, to them it looks like a two-headed monster of Western power politics. Korea's two separate governments, to the Asiatic, can no more make up than can the big power rivalry that produced them. Such things are taken as proof that the cold war cannot fail to burst into atomic flame that will engulf the world.

I talked to dozens and dozens of Asians last winter during a four month tour, just when communism was winning in China its greatest triumph since 1917. Every single Asiatic to whom I talked openly or indirectly confirmed his lack of faith in peace.

To him, it is the East that needs help. More people, poorer people, more restive people live there than in Europe. To him, Russia and America have poured their strategic energies into Europe—already industrialized, already made up of established nationalities.

This is the emotional framework of his thinking as he maneuvers for what he thinks is the safest corner. He has had centuries of experience in such maneuvering.

This is the setting for a big part of the cold war from now on.

ASTHMA

RELIEF FOR ALL TYPES OF ASTHMA

NEW FORMULA FOR RELIEF OF ALL TYPES OF ASTHMA

Watch this paper for future announcements.

MAICO HEARING AID

CO.

TEXARKANA ARK—TEX.

Room 438 State Nat'l Bank Bldg.

Phone 2-4382

Chicago Professor to Survey State Education Setup

Little Rock, July 18 —(UP)—Dr. Norman Burns, education specialist from the University of Chicago, was making preparations today for a one-year study of higher educational facilities in Arkansas.

Burns was hired by the Arkansas higher education survey commission at a meeting in the statehouse here late Saturday.

The commission was created by the 1919 general assembly to coordinate and improve instruction and facilities at the University of Arkansas and all state-supported colleges.

Dr. Burns, associate professor of higher education at the University of Chicago, was granted a year's leave of absence from the institution to the Arkansas post. He will submit a report on his findings by Oct. 1, 1950.

The survey commission is launching a $30,000 program and commission Chairman Harry Colay of Magnolia said "we have every reason to hope for a return worth many times the investment."

Gov. Sid McMath expressed himself as being "well-pleased" with Burns' appointment.

Negro Who Killed Priest Ends Own Life

New Orleans, July 18(UP)—Frank Bates, the 22-year-old Negro who confessed killing a 69-year-old Catholic priest and robbing him of $14, was found dead in his jail cell today.

Bates was awaiting trial for the bludgeoning murder July 3 of the Rev. Father John P. Neffert, Police said he had attempted to commit suicide and had to be strait-jacketed in his cell.

The body was found by a jailer as he made his rounds. Police immediately reported that there were no internal injuries, no skull fractures and no brain injury.

However, Dr. Philip Montelepre, assistant parish coroner, said an autopsy would be performed. A preliminary report said the Negro died of a heart attack and dehydration (lack of body moisture).

But further investigation, Montelepre said, showed Bates had suffered two fractured ribs, two black eyes, bruise burns on wrists, and ankles, a body bruise and contusions along the spine.

Dr. Montelepre said he was told by the man's cellmate that Bates had refused food and water since he was placed in the parish prison.

The Negro had been unruly in his cell, police said, and it was necessary to keep him handcuffed. When he began battling his head against the cell bars they strait-jacketed him, they said.

Montelepre said the man's death could have been due to "natural causes" but that he would investigate further.

The state flower of Pennsylvania is the mountain laurel.

Courtesy—Little Rock Engraving Co.

Comely Beverly Mae Jones, "Miss Warren," pictured above, was runnerup in the recent state-wide Beauty Pageant sponsored by the Eastern Arkansas Young Business Men's Association.

The charm and beauty of the vivacious brunette made her one of the favorites, placing second to Miss Barbara Brothers, "Miss Little Rock," who was chosen "Miss Arkansas."

Miss Jones was later named "Miss Lake Chicot" at a Beauty Pageant held at Lake Village on July 4th.

Prescott News

Tuesday July 19

The Business Women's Council of the First Christian church will meet Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock at the parsonage.

Wednesday, July 20

There will be a teachers meeting at 7 o'clock, prayer service at 7:45 and choir rehearsal at 8:30 Wednesday evening at the First Baptist church.

A mid-week meeting will be held Wednesday evening at 7:30 at the First Christian church. Mrs. C. E. Wagner will conduct the study period.

The monthly recreational meeting of the center community club will be held Wednesday evening at the center school. The meeting will be held in the form of a picnic and everyone is requested to bring a lunch.

Wednesday, July 20 is the date set for the outing and fish-ry for the men of the Presbyterian Bible class and club. D. L. McKee, Jr., appointed the following men to serve on the committee to make arrangements for the July activity: John I. McCartney, chairman; R. P. Hamby, Brad Dewoody, Clyde Hesterly and Ernest Prince.

Thursday, July 21
The Junior teams Co. C vs Wards of the Prescott softball league will play at Cummins Field at 6 p. m.

The Senior teams Roswells vs Wards: Hardware vs Co. C of the Prescott softball league will play at Cummins Field beginning at 7:30 p. m.

Pink and Blue Power
Mrs. Cecil Grant, Jr. of Little Rock who has been the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dawson Atkinson, entertained on Friday evening with a pink and blue shower honoring Mrs. Allen Gee Jr.

A profusion of summer flowers were used to decorate the party rooms.

In the games and contests prizes were awarded Mrs. Thomas Dewoody, Mrs. Vaughn Bright and Mrs. Clifton Yancy.

Little Miss Charlotte Grant presented the honored many ladies by gifts in a doll carriage decorated with pink and blue.

The hostess assisted by Mrs. Atkinson, Mrs. Robert Hambricht, and Mrs. Don Carvill served a delicious ice course.

Miss Nancy Cummings Engagement Announced
Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd M. Cummings of Prescott announced the engagement of their daughter, Nancy, to Harland Blake Gray.

Mr. Gray is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse J. C. rowdso of Prescott. The wedding will take place late in August.

Miss Cummings attended Henderson State Teachers College, Arkadelphia.

Mr. Gray was graduated from Ouachita College, Arkadelphia.

Ann Franks Celebrates Birthday Anniversary
Ann Franks entertained a number of her friends on Saturday afternoon from 6 to 8 o'clock, on the Rosston road play ground in celebration of her 26th birthday anniversary.

Mrs. Yancy and Martin Gilbert won prizes in the bingo games. Shuttle board and croquet were also enjoyed.

The sewing table was an attractive decorated with pink and white crepe paper, pink streamers and were placed at each corner with pink and white roses. A large and pink streamers held the party and pink birthday cake that was filled with small favors and was cut and served by the hostess.

Mrs. Jewel Lamb served the mouth-watering and light refreshments. Mrs. Franks presided at the punch bowl.

The guests, Jack Gilbert, Mrs. Gilbert, Frances Watson, Mary Yancy, Genevieve King, Mrs. Harland, Blake Gray, Mrs. Gray, Mrs. Josephine Carrington and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hardy over the weekend.

Grayland, Fla. July 18 —(UP)—three Negroes today confessed the rape of a young white woman and the robbery of her husband, Sheriff W. V. McCall reported.

A heavily armed mob tried to take two of the Negroes out of jail Saturday night. The Negroes had been moved to another jail before the crowd of about 100 men gathered at the courthouse in Tallahassee.

National guardsmen were called out yesterday to keep order, but the threat of violence subsided and subsided last early today.

Sheriff McCall identified the suspects as Charlie Gale, Samuel Shepherd and Walter Irvin, all about 24. They are being held in Tallahassee jail.

McCall said the trio admitted they robbed and beat Willie Padgett and raped his 11-year-old wife. Padgett said that the Negroes suggested as he and his wife were strangled by car theme. They first offered to help Padgett said, but then he was hit on the head, his wallet stolen and his wife taken away in the Negroes' car.

Mrs. Padgett was found walking alone a highway and taken to a hospital. She was released Sunday.

Sheriff W. V. McCall, who quelled the mob of about 100 men that gathered at the county courthouse at Tallahassee Saturday night, said the men who marched to the jail were armed "to the teeth." He knew them all and they were sober, reasonable fellows.

Salesman to Go on Trial July 27 for Rape

Hampton, July 18 —(UP)—A 26-year-old traveling magazine salesman will go on trial here July 27 on charges that he raped a young waitress.

Ollie Ray Doshier of Texarkana, surrendered to officers last week after he had hid in south Arkansas woods for six days.

He came out of the brush after a snake bit him.

A 16-year-old girl told officers that Doshier picked her up in Fordyce, Ark., the night of July 5. She said he drove her into Calhoun county about three miles south of Fordyce and raped her.

Oklahoma ranks 22nd in population in the United States, according to the census of 1940.

Bang's Disease to Be Subject of Meet Here

Calif-hood vaccination for Bang's Disease, under the new Arkansas provided program will be explained to cattlemen and dairymen Thursday, July 21, at 10:30 a. m. in the Hempstead county court room, announces Oliver L. Adams, County Agent.

Details of the program will be given by Dr. H. R. Shay, Bureau of Animal Industry, veterinarian, who will represent Dr. J. S. Campbell, State Veterinarian, who is in charge of the program.

The purpose of the calf-hood vaccination program is that of preventing loss of calf crops and increasing production in milk where sanitation and good herd management practices are followed. It is a belief of Farm Bureau leaders who work in interest of programs passage that no livestock producer who is spending time and money in building a herd and improving pastures can afford not to vaccinate replacement heifers. Calf-hood vaccination will be offered to owners of all calves 1 to 8 months old where the calf would be used as herd replacement.

Every farmer who grows his own home milk cow or beef cattle will be interested in this program. Participation is voluntary. Calves will be vaccinated on an arranged schedule on a community basis.

Ohio is known as the "Buckeye State."

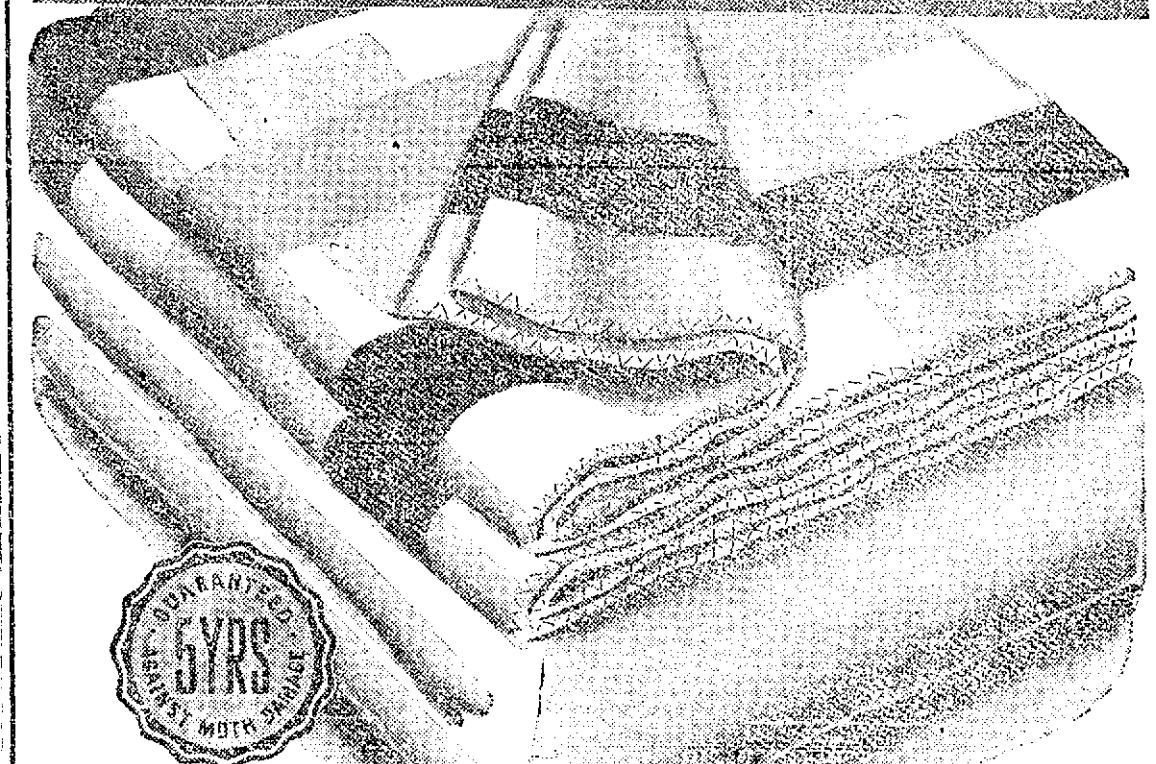

PREACHER'S

(For the Hair)
Will prove itself to you for GRAY, faded, dry, falling hair, ITCHY scalp and DANDRUFF.
USE IT — BE CONVINCED
JOHN P. COX DRUG CO.

IT'S PENNY'S FOR BETTER BLANKET VALUES

All Penny's all wool Blankets carry a written five year moth proof guarantee.

BUY NOW ON LAY-AWAY—TAKE HOME IN THE FALL

Border Stripe Blankets

SNOW WHITE WITH COLORED BORDER... 10.90
SCARLET WITH BLACK

Here's an extra warm blanket that's made to take it! Thick, firm-textured wool... 4 1/4 pounds of it... finished with long-lasting whipstitched hems. A perennial favorite of Penney's customers, priced the same old thrifty way... just $10.90! If you want protection against piercing wintry blasts, this massive... and manly... heavy duty border stripe is meant for you!

- FACTS:
1. FIRM-TEXTURED WOOL
 2. WEIGHS FULL 4 1/4 POUNDS
 3. 72" x 84" SIZE
 4. WHIPSTITCHED ENDS

Another Shipment—all colors—all wool single

BLANKETS

3 lbs. 72x84
Yes It's Moth Proofed $6.00

Hurry in and get your blankets today

AT PENNEY'S

KELVINATOR GIVES YOU FAR MORE FOOD SPACE!
—IT'S COLD CLEAR TO THE FLOOR

Model CM 299.95 Other models from 189.95

GET MORE... GET COLD CLEAR TO THE FLOOR!
GET Kelvinator!
HAMM TIRE & APPLIANCE CO.
215-217 S. Walnut Hope, Ark. Phone 21